Since its establishment in 1984, the Pacific County Economic Development Council (PCEDC) has worked effectively providing assistance to many local businesses with start-up, expansion and job retention programs. Core services include site selection, process facilitation, demographic information, and business retention and expansion to develop and encourage a healthy business climate throughout the County.

The PCEDC's strength is in its broad-based membership of business owners and individuals committed to excellence and local progress. The PCEDC works diligently to coordinate local economic development activities by forging strong connections with governmental agencies such as: cities, ports, county, public utility district, and Washington State.
